ION Partners with Sinay to Deliver AI-powered Algorithms in the Marlin SmartPort™ Platform

HOUSTON, December 16, 2021 -- ION Geophysical Corporation (NYSE: IO) today announced that the company is partnering with Sinay to incorporate their AI solutions into its climate-smart platform, Marlin SmartPort™. Sinay's software, in combination with the data that Marlin SmartPort manages, provides ports and harbors with better intelligence to optimize operations such as berth conflict avoidance, thereby improving safety and profitability, while reducing fuel consumption and emissions.

"We are excited to partner with ION and see this partnership as a testament to the trust and expertise Sinay is recognized for in the market for its AI-powered algorithms," said David Lelouvier, Managing Director at Sinay. "Together, we hope to improve port and harbour operations and sustainability through digitalization."

"We are delighted to partner with Sinay and expand our AI capabilities in Marlin SmartPort," said Stuart Darling, Senior Vice President of ION's Software group. "Through our partnership with Sinay and others, we will continue to digitize the port and harbour ecosystem with leading technologies to provide a comprehensive solution in Marlin SmartPort."
